

Null control: shuffling the width label across cells makes width→coupling go FLAT
(observed red line sits far outside the permuted null → the correlation is not a selection/marginal artifact)

